

 All matters for this department of the Sunday Herald must reach the society editor not later than 4 p. m. Saturday. Notices received after that time cannot be printed Sunday morning.

The extreme quiet of the mid-summer season still prevails, the past week being by far the quietest of the year. Nothing but a few circus parties and a moonlight affair at the Young home breaking the drear monotony. Despite the quiet in town, however, reports of the mild gale of the summer resorts around town reach the few who are still dwelling in houses here. From the mountain campers come reports of the best and jolliest of informal entertainments and as a great portion of Salt Lake's society people are in the mountains the events are enjoyed.

The coming week has but two events of importance scheduled, the McCornick lawn party Tuesday evening and the visitors' day at the country club Thursday. The two theatre engagements will doubtless fill a want of amusement for those who are in the city and probably draw from the nearby resorts a goodly portion of the theatre-goers.

Miss Margaret Donnellan entertained at a very delightful coaching party last evening in honor of Miss Grace McCullen of Cleveland, O., and Miss Edna Jacobs of Seattle.

Mr. Hugh Satterlee leaves this morning for a two weeks' trip through Montana.

Miss Florence Decker gave a birthday luncheon last Tuesday, at which the following young girls were present: Misses Edna Stem, Mary Largent, Elsie Keyser, Judith Keyser, Mabel Decker, Helen Taylor, Irene Van Pelt and Edna Hughes.

A delightful and unique card party was given by Mrs. E. I. Woodruff at her cottage, "Rutwood Lodge," Brighton, on Monday afternoon in honor of her niece, Mrs. L. M. Nollage of Arkansas, Tex. "Black Jack" was the game played and the place and tally cards were clever pen and ink sketches of mountain burros, drawn by Mrs. Nollage. The house was profusely decorated with mountain flowers, wild roses, columbines and ferns. After the game daily refreshments were served. Mrs. William Short won the first prize, the consolation going to Mrs. Elmer Darling. The invited guests were Mrs. Elmer Darling, Mrs. James Brown, the Misses Ethel and Winifred Woodmansee, Mrs. John H. Kerr, Mrs. Kline Smith, Mrs. Brooks, Mrs. William Short, Miss Short, Mrs. Pfoutz, Mrs. Fisher Harris, Mrs. Wood.
